The unfortunate condition of affairs developed in the investigation before the election board is further evidence of the growth of Democratic sentiment and the necessity of the party governing powers complying in detail with the letter of the law. It is charged and believed to be true, that the officials of the committee did what their predecessors had done for years, viz.: fill in vacancies for nominations and committeemen after the books were closed to the public. Although unlawful there has been heretofore no protest for the reason that the party was in the minority, and no one seriously cared. Now that an opportunity to win presents itself the compliance with the law is necessary and the unanimous action of the board of elections in refusing to proceed with the primaries on the grounds of irregularities is the tangible evidence that such is the case. It is very unfortunate that the candidates for nominations must be compelled to do their work over again and conditions become so unsettled but what cannot be helped must be endured. It is anticipated that in the future the action of the party officials will be such as to give no room for protest or objection.

ANARCHISTS

effect that Berkman's signature had been attached to the letters found in Silverman's room, but he intimated that after he knew the contents of the papers found there he might want to put his hands on Berkman right away.

Inspector McCafferty, head of the detective bureau, started five of his detectives who know Yiddish and are familiar with the east side out on the hunt for persons whom he wished to find early this morning. For the rest of the day there was a steady stream of suspected anarchists, relatives of Silverman and witnesses of the explosion of the Union Square passing into the inspector's office. He elected to give out information concerning what some of them had said: S. E. Yanofsky, the editor of Frei Arbeiter Stimme (Free Worker's Voice) the official organ of the anarchists in New York, published at No. 30 Canal street, was one of the first obtained for McCafferty by his special squad of Jewish detectives. Although Berkman could not be found at his home this afternoon, he was located there by a reporter to-night and told that Inspector McCafferty had hinted that he might be wanted to explain the presence in Silverman's room of letters and manuscripts bearing his signature. Berkman said:

"I have not heard from the police in any way although I was at home all of last night, and part of today. I would be perfectly glad to answer any questions they might want to put to me. I repeat that I never heard of this Jewish lad who tried to throw the bomb in Union Square and I cannot imagine what letters of mine he might have had in his possession, for I never wrote to him."

"It is just possible that he might have come into possession of some letters that I had written to certain groups of anarchists in other cities concerning lectures, the publication 'Mother Earth,' which Miss Goldman and myself edit, or other business dealing with the ordinary affairs of the anarchist movement in this country. But there certainly will not be found in any of those letters anything about a conspiracy or any attempt to blow up the police of this city."

"I was not invited personally to participate in any way in the march of the unemployed upon Union Square and consequently I know nothing about it. Socialists rarely invite anarchists to take any part in their propaganda. The anarchists had no part officially in Saturday's demonstration so far as I know."

New York, March 29.—(Croner's Physician O'Hanlon performed the autopsy today upon the body of Ignatz Hildebrandt, the tailor of 288 Third avenue, who was sitting next to Silverman about the fountain in the square when he attempted to throw the bomb and who was almost instantly killed by its explosion. The doctor found that a piece of brass two and a half inches long had torn through the left wall of the man's chest between the second and third rib, severing the aorta, had lodged in the left lung. There were other cuts by flying missiles about the abdomen. Permission was given the dead man's widow today to remove the body to Orange, N. J., where the funeral will be held, from the home of Mrs. Emily Koehler, a sister of Mrs. Hildebrandt, on Tuesday.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is a unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge is dissolved and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to relieve. Sold by all druggists for 25c, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 14 Warren Street, New York.

MESSENGER
KILLED AND CAR LOOTED

Wichita, Kan., March 29.—Arthur A. Bailey, aged 30, Wells Fargo express messenger, was dead in his car when the south bound Santa Fe train pulled into Newton, Kan., at 3:55 this morning. He had been murdered and the express safe rifled of its contents. There is no clue to the identity of the murderer. Bailey was recently married and lived at Kansas City, Mo.

The train left Strong City at 2:35 this morning running to Newton, the division point, where a south and west train was made up. Repeated knockings at Newton failed to arouse the messenger and the door was broken open and the messenger found lying in a pool of blood. His head was bent to a pulp.

Railroad officers advance the theory that the murdered man permitted some one whom he knew to ride with him. That this man found it necessary to kill the messenger in order to hush his identity after robbing the safe. The amount taken cannot be ascertained at present. Officers admit a $1000 package is missing, but it is generally believed that the booty was large.

THE KAISER

When the news was conveyed to the emperor at Venice last Friday that the American temper was rising rapidly over the imputation which Dr. Hill's rejection cast upon President Roosevelt's judgment and the personal status of an eminent American citizen, his majesty decided to delay starting upon his Mediterranean cruise until the incident was cleared up. The ministry of foreign affairs has not let the emperor long remain in doubt that the whole German American policy would be threatened with ruin if the United States was not promptly conciliated. The Kaiser acted with characteristic promptitude and the official statement represents a "golden bridge" constructed for a withdrawal from a position which had been found politically untenable.

The correspondent concludes: "I am assured by the highest authority that the Kaiser's objections to Dr. Hill rested exclusively on the fear that American diplomatic prestige in Germany would suffer if there should be any diminution in the embassy social brilliancy. I am further described to state and the Imperial government has particular pleasure in stating so unreservedly that Mr. Tower has been the victim of wholly erroneous aspersions in the English, American and German press in reference to his alleged intriguing."

Washington, March 29.—From what was said in official circles tonight there appears to be a fair prospect of clearing up the unpleasantness growing out of the reported opposition on the part of Emperor William to Dr. David Jayne Hill, who was selected to succeed Charlemagne Tower as American ambassador at Berlin. Press dispatches from Berlin say that the emperor has withdrawn all objections to Dr. Hill and will receive him cordially and had so notified President Roosevelt. Official confirmation of these statements was not given but it was declared that the German government had never objected to Dr. Hill and there was no reason why he should not assume the duties of the mission to Germany. This indicates that the president may send Dr. Hill to Berlin after all. Whether he will remain there for any great length of time or merely stay long enough to establish the principle that wealth and the desire to entertain extensively shall not determine the selection of an American diplomatic officer, has not appeared.

Meanwhile the mystery of the "opposition" to which Ambassador Tower referred in his telegram to the state department has not been cleared up, although there is reason to believe that the government has obtained by means of the trans-Atlantic cable a synopsis of the contents of the explanatory letter which Mr. Tower forwarded by mail. President Roosevelt is reported as being provoked over the publicity given to the incident and as extremely anxious to ascertain where the information was furnished that the opposition to Dr. Hill existed. It is evident that the president suspects that persons antagonistic to Dr. Hill were responsible for the story. Whether the inquiries being made to get at the motive behind the leak or inspired statement will result in any definite information, it is not possible to say.

Remarks in official circles indicate that a failure to send Dr. Hill to Berlin might be misconstrued by Germany and it is believed that this view is likely to prevail and make it certain that his nomination as ambassador will be sent to the senate.

JEFFERSON DAY

Banquet Program is Complete—Eloquent Speakers Will Make Addresses.

Alliance, March 29.—The arrangements are now completed for the Jefferson day banquet, at the Hotel Alliance, on the evening of April 2. The Woods-King Harp orchestra will furnish music. Attorney E. W. Diehl has been selected as toastmaster. A number of guests from out of the city will attend.

It is the intention of the local Democracy to make this the largest and best banquet ever held by the party in this section of the state.

Many inquiries for tickets have already been made which is an indication that about all the available space at the hotel will be required to accommodate the guests. The tickets have been placed on sale at the Mower and Diver drug stores and can be procured at any time. The program of speakers has been carefully prepared by the committee.

The menu shows that there will be something good to eat as well as a feast of eloquence. The following is the menu:

Caviar Sur Canopy
Radishes Salted Almonds Olives
Char Consomme En Tasse
Filet of Sole, Villorol
Potatoes Hollandaise
Cardinal Punch.
Roast Young Turkey
Chestnut dressing
Browned Sweet Potatoes
German Asparagus Vinaigrette
Tutti Frutti Assorted Cakes
Young American Cheese
Toasted Water Crackers
Cafe Noir

It is a great disappointment to many that B. F. Weybrecht will be unable to be present and take a place among the speakers. Mr. Weybrecht will be in Washington, D. C., looking after the movement for a government building for Alliance, however, the gathering has a selection of eloquent orators engaged. The following is the program:

Toastmaster, Edwin W. Diehl, "Jefferson," John C. Welby, of Canton; "Democracy's Opportunity," Prof. C. E. Oliver, East Palestine, O.; "Public Office a Public Trust," Charles Krichbaum, Canton; "The Future of Democracy," Thos. McNamara, Youngstown.

HEAVY FRUIT
YIELD EXPECTED

An examination of fruit buds since the present warm weather shows them in excellent condition. Out of over one hundred peach buds examined from budded fruit trees not one was found that had been winter killed. The same was true of both early and late cherries. The apple trees are loaded with buds and these and pears are unharmed. The trees bearing fruit last year made excellent growths and the prospects were never more flattering for a big fruit than for the present year.

Carrollton Raises Money for New Industry.

Carrollton, March 29.—The loan of $6000 and the donation of $2000 have been raised by the citizens of Carrollton to induce the Ferguson Manufacturing company of Canton to locate here. The company manufactures go-carts, wagons and other small articles. The loan is to draw 6 per cent interest and be secured by mortgage on the factory, which will be worth $15,000. The company will be capitalized at $25,000, and some stock will be taken by Carrollton people. The company expects to do about a $30,000 business the first year. The plant will be located in the old Harsh elevator north of the W. & L. E. depot and will employ about 25 people at the start. The company expects to be in operation about the first of May.

Scarlet Fever at Navarre.

Navarre, March 29.—An epidemic of scarlet fever prevails in this city and despite the precaution taken by the local authorities to prevent its spreading, the number of cases is steadily increasing. All winter the disease kept spreading but not until now has the epidemic assumed a serious aspect. Three deaths have been reported so far as resulting from the disease. Scores of homes are quarantined to prevent spreading of the fever. Yesterday six new cases were reported, and the whole town is becoming alarmed over the seriousness of the epidemic.

LATE ALLIANCE NEWS

Alliance, O., March 29.—Passenger Conductor Charles Early of the Pennsylvania lines had a narrow escape from death Sunday evening, a few miles west of Canton, and as it is he is at the Alliance hospital severely injured. Mr. Early, owing to the slack business on the railroad, has been acting as flagman on fast passenger train No. 16 due at Alliance at 6:08 p. m. When at Buck's Mill, west of Canton, he started to place the signal lanterns at the rear end of the train. In swinging around the end of the last coach, it seems that the handle to which he was holding gave way, throwing him off the train which was going at a good speed. The train was stopped and backed up to where Mr. Early lay. He remained unconscious for some time but was conscious when the train arrived in this city. The city ambulance took him to the hospital. He was considerably cut and bruised but his injuries are not thought to be of a serious nature.

A woman named Belle Sleson, aged about 40 years, who made her home at the residence of Agnes Miller, near Front street, died Sunday afternoon, after being ill some time. The body was taken to Sharer's undertaking rooms to be prepared for burial.

A young man named Phil Yoder was arrested early Sunday morning by Officer Mason upon complaint of Alexander Auld and Homer Oyster, the latter boys alleging that Yoder assaulted them on South Webb avenue without any provocation whatever. Young Auld was badly used up in the affair. Yoder will be arraigned in Mayor McConnell's court Monday forenoon.

Mrs. Sarah Haines, aged 81 years, died Saturday afternoon at the home of relatives on North Franklin avenue. She had been ill for some time. Alliance has been her home for a number of years. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Saturday evening, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, residing at the corner of South Union avenue and College street, died after a short illness. The girl was about twelve years of age. The family has resided in the city but a short time.

Fredolph Peterson, a sergeant in Company K, Eighth Infantry, O. N. G., was taken to the Alliance hospital Sunday evening suffering with typhoid fever. Sharer's ambulance took him from his home to the hospital.

A horse owned by Albert Zumbrennen and which was left hitched to a buggy on Prospect street Saturday night broke loose and ran up the L. E. & A. W. railroad to Grant street then over to Arch avenue. Going south on Arch avenue it turned directly in front of a street car. The horse escaped injury but the buggy was struck by the car and damaged to some extent.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night the fire department was called to Samuel Bratschi's grocery on East Summit street where a pantry in the rear of the store had caught on fire from a leaky gas generator used in the lighting system for the building. The room in which the fire originated was damaged to some extent, as was also the stock stored there. The loss is covered by insurance.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Trescott, wife of Samuel Trescott and mother of Supt. E. O. Trescott, died at the Trescott home in Cleveland Tuesday of last week. Funeral services were held on Thursday at Wade Memorial chapel in Lake View cemetery, conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. H. Goldner of the Euclid avenue Christian church. Elizabeth Crawford was born August 16, 1842, at Darlington, Beaver county, Pa. She was married to Samuel J. Trescott, 1866, at Darlington, who survives her. They commenced housekeeping in Salem, O., and after a brief residence in that city, returned to Marietta, where they lived for 25 years. They then came to Randolph which was their home for 25 years until their removal to Cleveland. Six children were born to them, of which all are living. She was reared in the Presbyterian church and at the time of her marriage she and her husband united with the Church of Christ at Marietta.

To Organize for Temperance.

An attendance of 114 was recorded at the meeting of the Berean Sunday school class of the First M. E. church yesterday morning. The subject of the lesson for the morning was "Temperance," the discussions being taken by the men. A quartet composed of Mrs. Rizer, Mrs. Stauffer, T. P. Paxson and Mr. Pratt, rendered several selections, and Mr. Mackay sang a baritone solo.

It was decided at the meeting of the class next Sunday morning to organize the class into a church temperance union for the purpose of better fighting the saloons.

GO-CART SHOP

Wants to Locate in Town Where There Are No Saloons—May Go to Carrollton.

H. C. Ferguson, of the Ferguson Mfg. Co., of this city, in talking to Carrollton business men about moving the company's plant to that place said:

"I am favorably impressed with Carrollton, much more so than I anticipated. I find the shipping facilities here about as good as those of most towns. I am pleased to know that the town is free from saloons, and that is one of the reasons why we are anxious to locate here. Our goods are not expensive. We have placed them on the market, finding a ready sale. We must have more room than we now have. Our go-cart is the best thing of the kind on the market. We have placed it in the large department stores of New York, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit and Chicago, which are the only cities we have thus far solicited. We are now closing a deal with a New York jobber, who will handle our goods through the eastern states and foreign countries. We did not solicit your town for a proposition to locate here but the proposition was submitted to us by one of our citizens. If you care to donate us a site, such as the Harsh elevator, and loan us $6,000 for five years at six per cent, giving us the option to take up the loan before that time if we desire, we will come to Carrollton. Our business the first year would amount to from $20,000 to $30,000 and at the outset we would employ from 20 to 25 men. We will pay from 15 to 25 cents an hour for labor, and while the majority of the employees would be men we would use some boys and girls. Our plant will be worth about $15,000, counting the site, when we commence operation. About $500 of the money loaned will be used to buy new machinery and tools, and the balance will be used as a working capital. We can get a location at Canton, but the building would have to be erected and we do not want to wait that long, besides it would necessitate moving twice as we must vacate the building we now occupy."

William Jessie Whittle, aged 81 years, died at Mapleton yesterday, death being caused by old age. He was born in Brighton, Mass., September, 1827 and moved to this state some years later. He was born in New Jersey, and moved to Ohio when 12 years old. About 25 years ago, he moved to Magnolia and lived there until about one year ago. Canton Bridge Co. in Agreement. Boston, March 29.—The proceedings going on before the finance commission of Boston, now probing the city contracts reveal the fact that twenty-five steel firms were in secret combination in bidding for steel work for the city of Boston. That for eight years there has been no competition and that the steel companies doing business in Boston have been in collusion, was the startling testimony given at last night's hearing. The fact came out in the proceedings that the Canton Bridge company is one of the firms in the "Boston agreement," under which competitive bidding was avoided.

Excessive Drinking

Excessive or continued use of alcoholic beverages always results in a diseased condition of the nervous system.

The drinking man is often heard to say, "I can stop of my own free will and when I wish," but the poor fellow is now devoid of the power to act at the proper time and in the right way,—it's too late, the craving has secured a firm hold and because of the diseased nervous system he has not the ability for sustained effort. The result we all know.

Drunkenness is no longer considered a crime; eminent specialists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such.

The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orrine. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Orrine, is in two forms. When desiring to give secretly, purchase Orrine No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Orrine No. 2 should be given.
